Collie Graphite Facility achieves quality assurance accreditation

International Graphite Limited (ASX: IG6) is pleased to confirm that its Collie Graphite Processing and R&D Facility has achieved independent certification to International Quality Standard ISO9001:2015.

ISO 9001 is the most globally-recognised standard for quality management systems. The certification, issued by SGS Global, covers the processing, assaying and supply of graphite to agreed specifications[1].

Managing Director and CEO Andrew Worland said: “Achieving quality assurance recognition for our Collie operation is a credit to our team and illustrates our commitment to establishing a highly professional and sophisticated downstream graphite processing business. It is fundamental to a successful graphite operation and credibility with consumers.”

Processing of graphite concentrates through the qualification scale micronising facility at Collie has continued this quarter with various products being sent for analysis to prospective customers.

An update on the implementation of the commercial scale Collie Micronising Facility is expected in coming weeks.

This announcement has been authorised for release by the Board of International Graphite Limited.

Andrew Worland
Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer

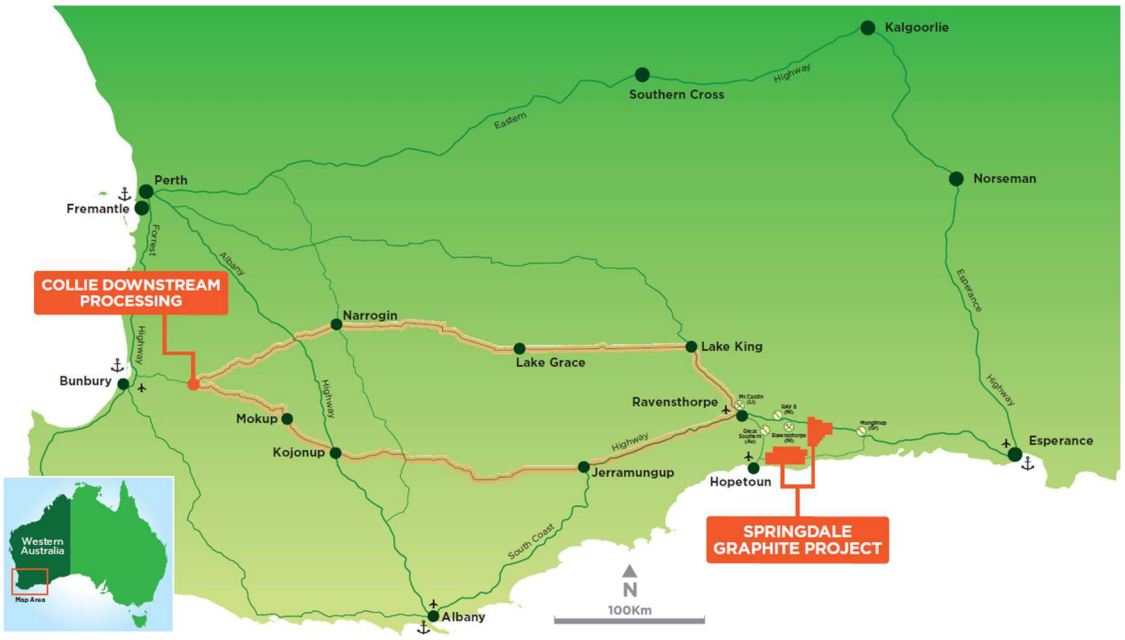

[1] Certification is valid from 12 September 2024 until 12 September 2027 and remains valid subject to satisfactory surveillance audits.
